Hi folks,

It was our pleasure last week to help out a local Surf Life Saving Club. Vera Santos and Tamsin Bearsley presented a cheque to the Carrum Lifesaving Club for helping at the Farmers Market. Carrum LSC President David Hasell said the money would be used for clothes for the 'nippers' (young LSC members).

Gary Rodgers, from the Chelsea Mens Shed gave a detailed and comprehensive presentation last week about how to find your ancestors. He explained you can do this through genealogical research through various organisations ; his favourite two websites are FamilySearch and LatterDay Saints (this web site goes

Many thanks to the Chelsea Mens Shed group who helped us erect and dismantle the heavy display stands and intricate lighting for our recent Art Show. We couldn't have had such a successful Art Show without your help and it is much appreciated.

Please RSVP (if you haven't already) to say if you are attending our Rotary Club of Chelsea Changeover Dinner at Patterson River Golf Club on Saturday the 4th of July. We need to know numbers very soon so we can let the Golf Club make catering arrangements.

.....

With the Winter weather more or less set in, it might be a good idea to check on your neighbours to see how they are coping with the cold weather. Don't assume they're OK. Many older people and pensioners struggle to pay food and fuel bills, and would probably appreciate someone checking up to see if they're OK, especially if they don't have any family who visit them on a regular basis.

The City of Kingston

Our Population

Kingston is a diverse community with its estimated resident population of 147,915 spanning a wide range of ages, household types and cultures.

Consistent with national trends, Kingston's oldest residents make up the fastest growing population group in the municipality.

One of the most culturally diverse municipalities in Victoria, Kingston is home to residents from over 150 countries of origin who speak over 120 languages. The changing cultural make up of Kingston is reflective of immigration trends across Australia with the Italian and Greek populations ageing and an increase in people arriving from India and China. Our diverse cultural heritage is regularly celebrated through a combination of festivals and events and is top of mind in the planning of culturally appropriate services.

The Kingston community is growing with the population expected to reach more than 167,000 by 2031, making up an anticipated 68,000 households. Council uses statistics about population demographics to inform the development and delivery of services to ensure what we do is relevant and of most use to the community. Future planning is important to explore how services will cope greater demand

Our City

The City of Kingston lies about 20 kilometers south of Melbourne's central business districts. Our beautiful beaches, world class golf courses, bushy reserves, tranquil wetlands, safe bicycle and walking paths, and top retail outlets attract scores of locals and visitors.

Kingston is home to an estimates 147,915 people across an area of 91 kilometers. Each suburb offers something different, from diverse businesses, housing, shops and restaurants to beaches, bushland, parks and playgrounds.

Formed in December 1994, the City of Kingston is surrounded by the Cities of Bayside, Monash, Glen Eira, Greater Dandenong and Frankston. It was an amalgamation of all or parts of the former Cities of Moorabbin, Mordialloc, Chelsea , Springvale and Oakleigh.

Regarded as a complex amalgamation at the time, Kingston is now a dynamic municipality. It has a rich Aboriginal history over tens of thousands of years with the Kulin nation as the Traditional Custodians.

Since European settlement, Kingston has grown and changed with varying land uses including farming, fishing, market gardens, quarrying, manufacturing, retailing and transport (including Moorabbin Airport).
